

News

Tough month to keep things to one page! We have come upon some great material to help you become a more effective investigator; while trying to keep the content strictly related to the types of investigations we handle every day.

Articles of Interest

- The Stoic Approach to OSINT – by “securitmeta” on the InfoSec Writers Guild
  - An excellent, academic look at OSINT, plus a new acronym for our UDM folks!
- OSINT on Deleted Content – Published by Technisette on OSINTCurious
  - Something we deal with frequently and some new tools and techniques worth checking out.
- OSINT Curious - 10 Minute Tips – A video series of short, digestible tips to keep yourself sharp. Please follow and keep up as many of these are applicable in your day to day investigations.

Toolbox Additions – R&D approved tools to add to your investigative process

- <https://stalkscan.com/>
  - An alternative to some of the other Facebook tools we are currently using
  - A little more user friendly with similar results to current tools, worth saving to your favorites for Facebook collection and analysis.
- <http://workinukraine.space/> by Denis Dinkevich
  - A great collection of OSINT tools
  - Nicely formatted for any occasion
- Yandex Image Search
  - Results tend to be more accurate than Google and TinEye
  - Use in conjunction with Google and TinEye to help ID fake profiles
  - Useful when trying to determine where our targets are taking images
- Twitter Automation, which looks great in reports!
  - Tinfoleak Summary Data- In Report
  - Cree.py for Geographic Mapping - In Report

Tools to Test Out

- Our Michigan Investigator Links Page
  - Keep sending links, obscure or not, we are looking to complete and publish our Michigan links page!